Hail to the Chief Presidents Day Music

“Hail to the Chief” is a march that is associated with the President of the United States and is played during the public appearances of the President. Verses from Sir Walter Scott’s “The Lady of the Lake” including the verse “Hail to the Chief who in triumph advances” were set to music in 1812 by James Sanderson, a self-taught English violinist and the conductor of the Surrey Theatre in London. “The Lady of the Lake” was made into play and debuted in New York on May 8, 1812. The song “Hail to the Chief” became popular and in 1815 it was first associated with a President when used to honor both George Washington and the end of the War of 1812.

CHORUS

Hail to the Chief
LADY OF THE LAKE,

Composed by M<sup>r</sup> Sanderson,
NEW YORK Published by W<sup>m</sup> DUBOIS.

Second Voice
Hail! Hail! Hail to the Chief who in Triumph advances

First Voice
Hail! Hail! Hail to the Chief who in Triumph advances

Bass Voice
Hail! Hail!

Andrew Jackson was the first living President to have the song used to honor his position in 1820 and was played at Martin Van Buren’s inauguration in 1837. On July 4, 1828, the U.S.. Marine Band performed the song at a ceremony for the opening of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. Then the wife of John Tyler, requested its use at her husband’s inauguration. Then after being used for James Polk’s inauguration, it became a mainstay to announce the arrival of the President. Under the term of Harry Truman, the Department of Defense made it the official tribute to the President.

And now you know!

Some Guinness World Records for Music

The world record for the longest working career for a music teacher was set by Charles Wright (USA) on May 4, 1912. Mr. Wright began teaching piano privately and professionally in 1931. He continued to do so for the next 76 years until he passed away on July 19, 2007 at the age of 97 years and 56 days!

The longest tenure as a church pianist & organist is 69 years and was achieved by Ida Mae Cumbest (USA) at the Caswell Springs United Methodist Church in Mississippi on May 11, 2011.

The largest playable accordion in the world is 8'-3.5" tall; 6'-2.75" wide; 2'-9.5" deep, and weighs 440 lbs. The instrument, built by Giancarlo Francenella in Castelfidardo, Ancona, Italy, bears the name "Fisarmonica Gigante" and was completed in 2001.

The largest piano measured 8'-2" in width; 19'-10" in length; 6'-3" tall. It was constructed by Daniel Czapiewski (Poland) and played at Szymbark, Poland on December 30, 2010.

THE TRUMPET PLAYER...

AND THE LION...

This trumpet player was on the phone with his agent. He was concerned that he didn't have a gig in a while. His agent tells him; "Listen, there aren't any gigs out there, but I found you something. I got you a gig bagging lions." To which the trumpet player says, "What does that have to do with my playing?" The agent then says: "Look, the gig pays $100 for every lion that you bag, don't worry about the playing." At this point the trumpet player will take anything so he hangs up and flies to Africa. Not wanting to miss any practice time he takes his trumpet with him while looking for the lions. He notices a lion coming toward him and the only thing that he could think of doing is playing his horn. He starts to play a beautiful ballad.

He then notices that the lion starts to get sleepy and eventually goes to sleep. He grabs the lion, bags him and throws him in the back of his truck. He goes a little further and sees another lion. Again he plays a beautiful ballad and again the lion falls asleep. This goes on all afternoon. The trumpet player has about 99 lions in his truck when he see another. He says "What the heck", one more won't hurt". He starts to play his ballad and notices that the lion is not paying attention to him so he starts to play louder. The lion starts to run toward the trumpet player. The trumpet player starts to play faster and faster but the lion keeps coming toward him. The lion jumps on the trumpet player and eats him. One of the lions on the truck turns to another lion and says, "I told you that when he gets to the deaf one the gig would be over!"

Two musicians are walking down the street, and one says to the other, "Who was that piccolo I say you with last night?" The other replies, "That was no piccolo, that was my wife."

What's the first thing drummers do in the morning?
Walk home.
